

Minor 'Pain Basics for Health Professionals'

Rotterdam University of Applied Sciences
School of Health Care Studies

Fall semester

exceed expectations

UNIVERSITY OF
APPLIED SCIENCES

Rotterdam University of Applied Sciences invites students to join our minor-program on 'Pain Basics for Health Professionals'. The program contains both state of the art knowledge about pain sciences and practical skills in taking care of people suffering from pain on a daily basis.

We aim to host 30 (inter-)national bachelor students in nursing, occupational therapy, physiotherapy or other healthcare professions. Together, we will learn about the fascinating new insights from pain science and reflect on the ways this knowledge can be used within our – inter-professional – workplaces. The curriculum is based on the recommendations of the International Association for the Study of Pain (IASP).

We would be proud to welcome you in Rotterdam and on behalf of all our participating tutors, we wish you an interesting, enriching and eye-opening experience!

SUMMARY

Minor 'Pain Basics for Health Professionals'
30 ECTS

When

Fall semester

Where

Rotterdam University of Applied Sciences,
School of Health Care Studies

Who

An inter-professional group of healthcare students.

Contact information

IVG-international@hr.nl

+31-10-794 41 81